Parent Notification Regarding Title I Programs

Plumas Charter School currently receives Title I Federal Funds. The amount of this funding fluctuates between $50,000-$85,000 depending on our student enrollment, our percentage of students who qualify as low income and the funding rate any given year. The primary purpose of this funding to help ensure that all children have access to the supports they need to meet academic state standards. During the 2020-2021 school year, 44% of Plumas Charter School’s students met the criteria to qualify as low income, and as such we qualify to utilize this funding in support of school wide programs and services designed to upgrade our entire educational program to support the academic achievement of all students.

Plumas Charter School (PCS) has chosen to utilize our Title I funds to support the provision of Instructional Aides for most center based classes and activities. The intent of this approach is to keep student to teacher ratios low, so that all students can receive academic instruction and support to meet their needs, as well as to provide for a variety of enrichment activities. PCS currently budgets $450,000 to provide for instructional aide positions. Title I Funding, State Level Supplemental Funding, as well as general funds are allocated to this expense.

Plumas Charter School believes that educating children is a joint effort between the school and the support system of the child, particularly the parent/guardian of the child. PCS encourages parents/guardians to be involved in their child’s education and we consider parents to be an integral component to the academic success of their child. When schools collaborate with parents to help their children learn and when parents participate in school activities and decision-making about their children’s education, children achieve at higher levels.

The U.S. Department of Education defines the purpose of the Title I funding as the following:

SEC. 1001. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.
The purpose of this title is to ensure that all children have a fair, equal, and significant opportunity to obtain a high-quality education and reach, at a minimum, proficiency on challenging State academic achievement standards and state academic assessments. This purpose can be accomplished by —

(1) ensuring that high-quality academic assessments, accountability systems, teacher preparation and training, curriculum, and instructional materials are aligned with challenging State academic standards so that students, teachers, parents, and administrators can measure progress against common expectations for student academic achievement;

(2) meeting the educational needs of low-achieving children in our Nation's highest-poverty schools, limited English proficient children, migratory children, children with disabilities, Indian children, neglected or delinquent children, and young children in need of reading assistance; (3) closing the achievement gap between high- and low-performing children, especially the achievement gaps between minority and nonminority students, and between disadvantaged children and their more advantaged peers; (4) holding schools, local educational agencies, and States accountable for improving the academic achievement of all students, and identifying and turning around low-performing schools that have failed to provide a high-quality education to their students, while providing alternatives to students in such schools to enable the students to receive a high-quality education; (5) distributing and targeting resources sufficiently to make a difference to local educational agencies and schools where needs are greatest; (6) improving and strengthening accountability, teaching, and learning by using State assessment systems designed to ensure that students are meeting challenging State academic achievement and content standards and increasing achievement overall, but especially for the disadvantaged; (7) providing greater decision making authority and flexibility to schools and teachers in exchange for greater responsibility for student performance; (8) providing children an enriched and accelerated educational program, including the use of schoolwide programs or additional services that increase the amount and quality of instructional time; (9) promoting schoolwide reform and ensuring the access of children to effective, scientifically based instructional strategies and challenging academic content; (10) significantly elevating the quality of instruction by providing staff in participating schools with substantial opportunities for professional development; (11) coordinating services under all parts of this title with each other, with other educational services, and, to the extent feasible, with other agencies providing services to youth, children, and families; and (12) affording parents substantial and meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children.
